DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipate by Hamada (USPN 6,906,282).

Hamada discloses a laser drilling apparatus, which uses a mask. A laser oscillator generates a beam, which passes through a mask having a predetermined pattern. Mirrors and lens are used. The workpiece is loaded on to a stage, which is movable. The mask stage and workpiece stage are controlled with a controller. The mask has a processing pattern having a plurality of holes that may have a random or regular pitch. Imaging lens (28) controls the direction of the laser beam on to the workpiece surface. Ratios of the imaging lens determine the diameter of the holes. (abstract, figures, col. 1, col. 2, lines 33-40)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over De Steur et al. (USPN 6,649,864) in view of Leighton (USPN 4,822,974).

De Steur et al. discloses laser drilling of holes in a circuit board substrate. A perforated mask is used to drill a hole with a predetermined diameter. During drilling the laser beam is moved in a circular path (wobble motion). (abstract, figures, col. 1-3)

De Steur et al. does not teach the angle of the wobble motion.

Leighton discloses the drilling of holes using a laser. The beam angle is controlled with a prism in order to various hole shapes. (abstract, figures, col. 1-3)

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to determine the angle of the beam relative to the axis, as taught by Leighton in the De Steur et al. process because this is merely a measurement of the operational parameters and ensures the formation of a quality drilled product.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See US PTO-892.
